I. MUSEUM EXPANSION

The legacy of the past year literally took shape before our eyes, as more than twenty-seven hundred tons of steel transformed the Frederic C. Hamilton Building from a concrete footprint into a work of art. While the city watched, the site we had just barely broken ground on began to evolve into one of the most exciting, unique structures ever built. More than sixteen thousand pieces of steel, fifty thousand bolts, and the hard work of nearly 150 engineers, welders, and other specialists created a steel masterpiece that is rapidly becoming Daniel Libeskind’s titanium-clad vision.

As the Hamilton Building developed, we began to feel the impact of expansion on our existing spaces and were required to temporarily close Palettes restaurant and Schlessman Hall as well as reroute traffic along a block of Thirteenth Avenue to accommodate the construction. These efforts were required to ensure the safety of our staff and visitors and to allow us to prepare these spaces for a minor transformation of their own.

During the year, the museum celebrated continued success in our capital campaign by announcing generous gifts made by two foundations that have been long-standing supporters of the museum. Furthering a relationship that dates back to the campaign to create the existing building in 1966, the Bonfils-Stanton Foundation pledged $3.5 million to the museum’s latest efforts. To commemorate this gift, the Hamilton Building’s dramatic new spaces for modern and contemporary art will be called the Bonfils-Stanton Foundation Galleries. In addition, the El Pomar Foundation in Colorado Springs contributed $3.25 million to the expansion campaign—the largest gift the foundation has ever pledged outside of Colorado Springs. In honor of this generosity, the four-story atrium that welcomes all visitors to the museum will be named the El Pomar Grand Atrium.

In July, more than 175 campaign donors put on their best jeans for Boots ’n’ BBQ, an appreciation event held in a rooftop tent with spectacular views of both the Front Range and the construction site. Donors were invited to join fellow partygoers Mayor John Hickenlooper and Daniel Libeskind in signing their names on the primary steel beam for the Hamilton Building’s prow, which now overhangs Thirteenth Avenue.

Collectors’ Choice 26 finds its way into our expansion section this year because of the generosity of our honorees, Dick and Marcia Robinson. The Robinsons requested that funds generated from this year’s event support the capital campaign for the expansion project. Thanks to the hard work of our event committee chairs, Dianne Eddolls and Glenn Jones, and our corporate chairs, Bob Malone and Scott Reiman, the gala was one of the most successful fundraising events in our history, netting over four hundred thousand dollars for the campaign.

The museum continued its commitment to involving the public in our expansion process. At our end-of-summer Building Block Party, more than two thousand people visited the closed portion of Thirteenth Avenue to take a closer look at the building, meet the people involved, and build their own structures out of PVC pipe. We also created a special program for museum members titled Expansion 101. This year, members viewed documentary films about the project at June’s and July’s “Movie Nights,” heard firsthand accounts at August’s “Who’s Who,” and were led through models of the gallery spaces by curators, educators, and designers at October’s “The New Galleries.”

II. EXHIBITIONS

The fiscal year couldn’t have had a more auspicious start than the opening of El Greco to Picasso from the Phillips Collection on October 4, 2003. During the three months it was open, the exhibition brought in nearly two hundred thousand visitors—an attendance record surpassed only by 1998’s Impressionism. Packed with major works by artists from Monet and Matisse to van Gogh and Degas, the exhibition’s showstopper was Renoir’s Luncheon of the Boating Party. These cherished paintings almost never travel; because of Director Lewis Sharp’s friendship with Phillips Collection Director Jay Gates, we had the good fortune to host these masterpieces while the Washington, D.C.–based Phillips galleries underwent renovation.

If El Greco to Picasso was an expected blockbuster, the sleeper hit of the year was undoubtedly Frederic Remington: The Color of Night. In a dark blue gallery illuminated only by small pools of light hung twenty-five of the artist’s finest paintings, all studies of moonlight, firelight, and starlight. The effect was stunning, and visitors responded with awe and repeat visits.

In April we opened the largest exhibition of Mexican colonial paintings ever displayed outside of Mexico, Painting a New World: Mexican Art & Life, 1521–1821. This often-surprising exhibition included “paintings” made entirely of feathers, Asian-style folding screens, and painted wooden panels inlaid with mother-of-pearl. We reached out to a growing demographic with exhibition tours in Spanish and also provided Spanish translations of our wall texts and audio tours. Spring also saw the opening of Scene Colorado/Sin Colorado, a sampling of important achievements in contemporary art—all made by artists who live or used to live in Colorado.

III. THE COLLECTION

The workload of the Conservation Department has increased exponentially as we draw nearer to the opening of the Hamilton Building.
Building. This year the department received much-needed help from the Kress Foundation, which arranged for the conservation of a Renaissance painting the foundation donated to the museum in 1961. With assistance from the museum support group Friends of Painting and Sculpture, which contributed funds to refurbish its period frame, Bernardo Zenale’s Madonna and Child with Saints went on view, restored and revitalized, in our sixth-floor galleries.

While we continued our efforts to preserve and display our collection, we focused on bringing the interior spaces of the Hamilton Building to life. As with all our major exhibitions, we attacked the challenge in teams primarily composed of a curator, master teacher, designers, and a writer, but requiring the expertise of many staff members, including registrars, conservators, art handlers, and photographers. Each team began by determining the qualities it wanted in its installation spaces and evaluating the different types of objects to be displayed in each. Using scale models and computer programs, exhibition designers created a system of interior walls that will divide the large spaces into galleries. Teams then experimented with placing scale replicas of artwork in the model to try to predict a host of variables, from visual impact and interpretive opportunities to visitor traffic flow, security concerns, and location of electrical outlets. While this process will continue over the next year, we are pleased with the major strides we’ve made.

When the Hamilton Building opens in 2006, it will feature an exhibition celebrating Virginia Mattern’s gift to the museum this past year of 320 contemporary American Indian art objects. The Mattern donation consists mostly of Pueblo ceramics, but also includes contemporary oil paintings, dolls, and Navajo and Hopi textiles. The combination of these magnificent contemporary works with our outstanding historic holdings creates one of the most comprehensive collections of any museum in this country.

This was also an important year for our New World Department, with the mounting of Painting a New World and the preparations for Tiwanaku: Ancestors of the Inca, which opened in October 2004. None of it would have been possible without the support and vision of Denver Art Museum trustee and former chairman Fredrick R. Mayer and his wife, Jan, whose endowment of the department has impacted every aspect of its operations. The Mayer Center for Pre-Columbian and Spanish Colonial Art at the Denver Art Museum underwrote not only the exhibitions, but also the publication of two beautiful full-color companion books authored by leading scholars from around the world, including curators Donna Pierce and Margaret Young-Sánchez.

If you flip forward a few pages in this report, you’ll see that the entire list of selected acquisitions from the Institute of Western American Art is credited to the Contemporary Realism Group. In its relatively brief lifetime, this group of donors has enabled the museum to assemble an important collection of realist works by living artists.

IV. PEOPLE

Bruce Wyman joined our staff as Director of New Technology. In past years, new technologies, from bar-coded membership cards to interactive video kiosks and online exhibitions, have greatly changed the average museum visitor’s experience and expectations. Wyman will coordinate efforts among departments and develop relationships with partners in the technology industry to ensure that we use the latest technologies—like embedded sensing and interactive surfaces and environments—wisely and inventively throughout the expanded museum complex.

In October 2003, Curator of Asian Art Ronald Y. Otsuka marked thirty years at the museum. During his tenure he has built the Asian art collection into one of the finest in the western United States. Chief among his many accomplishments are the complete reinstallation of the Asian galleries in 1993 and the initiation of the Curator’s Circle series of lectures and workshops, which brings prominent collectors from around the world to Denver to share their knowledge and artistic passions.

Alianza de las Artes Americanas
720.913.0173
Alianza was created in 1989 to support the museum’s pre-Columbian, Spanish colonial, and southwestern collections. Activities include lectures, social events, and visits to museums and private collections. A newsletter published three times a year keeps members abreast of Alianza activities and new developments in the field. Alianza also offers a popular travel program. In the past year, members visited Oaxaca, Mexico.

Alliance for Contemporary Art
720.913.0152
The Alliance for Contemporary Art (AFCA) was founded in 1978 to promote the appreciation, enjoyment, and acquisition of contemporary art. AFCA programs include Meet Your Collection (a chance to spend an evening with artists represented in the collection) and Discovery (the opportunity to meet artists, collectors, critics, and other visitors). AFCA offers lectures, seminars, film and video series, studio tours, salons, trips to major national and international art centers, tours of private and corporate collections, and parties. Highlights of the past year included trips to New York and Dallas/Fort Worth; lectures by Zhang Huan, Andrea Zittel, Brad Kahlhamer, and Alex Katz; a party in honor of Ron Otsuka's thirtieth anniversary as DAM Asian art curator; and a reception for Scene Colorado/Sin Colorado, as well as talks with artists in the exhibition.

Asian Art Association
720.913.0043 or www.denverartmuseum.org/asianart/aaa
Founded in 1981 to support the acquisition and conservation programs of the Asian Art Department, the Asian Art Association (AAA) offers symposia, exhibits, receptions, and lectures, including the popular monthly Wednesday-at-Noon series. AAA members get to know each other better through social events and trips to exhibitions and collections throughout the country. This year, the association presented evening lectures with Thomas B. Coburn and Thomas Hahn. Wednesday-at-Noon programs included Nancy Jacobi on washi, Julie Segraves on Full Frontal, Sarah Nelson on the Silla Kingdom of Korea, Shanda Dvorak on images of Mao, Ronald Bernier on tribal and classical art of Southeast Asia, and Mary Deeming on Japanese prints. Members also had the chance to tour the Hamilton Building construction site. AAA supported department purchases and events throughout the year.

CultureHaus
720.913.0032 or www.culturehaus.com
CultureHaus is a social and educational support group of the Denver Art Museum that connects the young at heart with art. Its programs provide members with the opportunity to learn more about art and the museum in interactive social settings. CH Collects combines small group tours of private collections with visits to art studios and galleries; CH Exhibits takes a behind-the-scenes look at exhibitions from a curator's perspective; and CH Out and About offers VIP invitations to special restaurant opening parties. Last but not least, the annual CH Bash is fast becoming known as the hottest fundraising party in town.

The Design Council
720.913.0046
The Design Council supports the Department of Architecture, Design, and Graphics with lecture series, symposia, presentations about the collection, private previews, field trips, and other special events. Last year’s lecture series included a salon at Black Tulip Antiques, curator R. Craig Miller’s presentation of the museum’s historical design rotation, a screening of a documentary about designer Eva Zeisel, and lectures by architect Sarah Susanka, industrial designer James Dyson, and Knoll design director Carl Magnusson. The fourth annual Louis Comfort Tiffany Design Lecture Series and Gala Luncheon featured the curator of Burghley House, Lady Victoria Leatham. Design Council patrons toured a Polo Club residence and went on a foray to the Hudson River Valley and New York City. Lastly, the Kirkland Museum hosted a fundraiser celebrating the successful close of the US Design 1975–2000 tour.

Douglas Society
720.913.0162
Named in honor of Frederic H. Douglas, former curator of the DAM Native Arts Department and one of the first scholars to present American Indian, Oceanic, and African objects as artistic achievements, the Douglas Society actively continues his efforts in education and in the ongoing development of the native arts collection. This year’s ten programs included a celebration of the Douglas Society’s thirtieth anniversary, a fundraising dinner with the Taos Society of Artists, and a trip to the opening of the National Museum of the American Indian in Washington, D.C. Lectures included such topics as Pueblo textiles, contemporary Santa Clara pottery, Australian Aboriginal art, and Inuit art.

Friends of Painting & Sculpture
720.913.0178
FOPAS members have the opportunity to meet and learn from the museum staff through educational and social activities, including exclusive private tours, artist studio visits, trips, lectures, and curator-guided tours of DAM exhibitions. Travel highlights for the year included a trip to New York with Timothy Standring to enjoy Old Masters Week at Christie’s and Sotheby’s; visits to galleries and private collections; and a trip to England to view private collections in the Rothschild homes. The annual Great Collections dinner was held at the home of Carl and Lisa Williams. Additionally, FOPAS sponsored artist studio visits and lectures throughout the year.

MUSEUM SHOP
Ella Spradley (from 6/04)
October 1, 2003–September 30, 2004

488,811 Visitors

34,587 Member Households
That’s up from 32,069 member households in 2003.

1 Construction Site
The construction team includes 120 workers; 31 subcontractors; 19 project managers, engineers, and superintendents; and 2 cranes. All this to create 146,000 square feet of new floor space and 178,000 square feet of new ceiling space.

56,205 Volunteer Hours
That’s equivalent to 27 extra staff members working full time (without sick days, holidays, or vacation) for an entire year.

17,209 DAM Postcards Sold
The Museum Shop also introduced 17 new products based on objects in the collection. The shop’s most popular item was the book accompanying the El Greco to Picasso exhibition, which sold 5,653 copies.

4 Marriage Proposals in the Galleries
Just in case you’re wondering, all of the women responded in the affirmative. All four couples had visited the museum on their first dates.

5 Teacher Workshops
Through the 221 teachers who attended these workshops, we reached 53,166 students.

224 Art Stops
17,492 visitors enjoyed our hands-on Art Stop demonstrations.

17,677 Art Objects Moved
The Collections Services Department lived in their white gloves as they transported priceless works of art, including 652 acquisitions, 172 incoming loans, and 172 outgoing loans.

72 Fragments
Brought into the museum in pieces, a Zia pot was the most fragmented object to be lovingly reassembled by the Conservation Department this year. The department spent the most time (150 hours) treating and mounting an African ere egungun mask (right).

2,017 Images Loaned
The most popular image requested from our Photographic Services Department was Edgar Degas’s The Dance Examination.

54 Security Officers
They protect even more valuable things than the art: during the 74,630 hours that our security officers worked, they performed 42 emergency medical responses.

2 Access Days
These special days with interpretive elements for visitors with disabilities drew 185 visitors to El Greco to Picasso and Painting a New World.

77,210 Audio Tours
Meanwhile, our live tours (including 1,016 tours in Spanish) reached a total of 55,057 students and 8,619 adults.

185,757 E-mails
The 12,221 Art Mail subscribers (including 1,943 new enrollees) received breaking news about the expansion, exhibitions, classes, and special events at the speed of cyberspace.

Yoruba ere egungun masquerades are designed to be danced in, so they look lifeless on ordinary museum mounts. The Conservation Department designed a revolutionary new mount for our mask (left) that will allow visitors to experience the object more as it was meant to be experienced.

The staff of the Denver Art Museum honors the memory of Luanne Dorsey and Eric Münch, who passed away during this last year.
The Denver Art Museum extends sincere thanks to members of the Helen Dill Society, who have included the museum in their estate plans. Directed to the museum’s endowment fund, estate gifts help build a pool of resources for the future and ensure that visitors for generations to come will be able to enjoy the Denver Art Museum.

*We regret that, due to space limitations, we are unable to list patrons who have supported the campaign effort with gifts of less than $250. We extend our sincere thanks for their generous support.
On behalf of the Denver Art Museum staff and Board of Trustees, the Development Committee gratefully acknowledges the generous contributions of donors and members who supported the museum in 2003 and 2004. Over the year, the museum’s 34,587 members enjoyed New Member Nights and previews of our popular exhibitions, as well as Members’ Mondays and Wrap Nights during the El Greco to Picasso exhibition. The museum also initiated the popular Expansion 101 events to keep members informed throughout the expansion process. Our upper-level Associate Members enjoyed special benefits, including behind-the-scenes tours of our collections, lunches with curators, and an exclusive cocktail party with Daniel Libeskind, architect for the new Hamilton Building. Thanks to generous grants and the successes of DAM Uncorked and Collectors’ Choice (our annual fundraising events), we have enjoyed strong revenue growth this year. In total, our members contributed $2,319,571 to support museum activities. Additionally, we received $3,773,687 in generous donations to support collections, exhibitions, education programs, and special projects.

Donors and members provide the cornerstone for all our activities, from special exhibitions to educational programming for children. As we move closer to the opening of the Frederic C. Hamilton Building, we hope you will continue to stay involved and vested with the museum. Thank you.

Mariner Kemper
Chairman, Development Committee

The museum maintained financial stability during fiscal year 2004 due in large part to the success of its exhibitions and related educational offerings, as well as the generous support of the community. A total of 488,811 visitors viewed the special exhibitions and permanent collections and participated in other lectures, events, and programs.

Major support from the community was essential in maintaining the museum’s financial health in fiscal year 2004. Revenues from gifts, grants, and memberships totaled nearly $12 million and included more than $4.3 million in contributions toward the capital campaign, which will provide funds to enhance the museum’s new Frederic C. Hamilton Building. Also included in gifts, grants, and memberships is over $1.7 million in distributions from the museum’s endowments in support of exhibitions, acquisitions, and other projects. The largest component of public support for museum operating purposes again came from the Scientific and Cultural Facilities District, which provided over $5.4 million in unrestricted revenues. Admission revenues totaled nearly $2.5 million, in large part due to the success of El Greco to Picasso from the Phillips Collection.

The museum’s financial statements include assets held for its benefit by the Denver Art Museum Foundation, a separate, tax-exempt Colorado nonprofit corporation governed by a separate board of directors and formed to hold, manage, invest, and administer substantially all of the museum’s endowment funds. The foundation has legal title to and controls all funds within the foundation, subject to any donor restrictions, until such funds are distributed to the museum by resolution of the foundation’s board. The total increase in endowment funds during the year was $2.8 million, bringing total net assets of the foundation to over $85 million at the end of the fiscal year. This increase reflects a portion of the contributions and pledges, primarily from the museum’s trustees, to the highly successful endowment campaign.

The museum is in the midst of a multiyear project to construct the Hamilton Building. The project is being funded with proceeds from a $62.5 million bond initiative approved by City and County of Denver voters in November 1999, with additional funds to be raised by the museum in a $28 million capital campaign. The project is expected to be completed in late 2006.

Decades of support from the community have ensured the museum’s financial stability, and this continued support will make possible exciting installations and other programs in the next few years as the expanded museum complex is opened.

Independent Auditor’s Report

Board of Trustees
Denver Art Museum:

We have audited the accompanying statement of financial position of the Denver Art Museum (the Museum) as of September 30, 2004, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Museum’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit.

We conducted our audit in accordance with U.S. generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Museum as of September 30, 2004, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the year then ended in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

The accompanying notes are an integral part of these financial statements.
(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

(a) Agreement with City and County of Denver

The Denver Art Museum (the Museum) is a Colorado not-for-profit corporation formed in 1897 for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and presenting works of art. The Museum entered into agreements with the City and County of Denver (the City) on December 17, 1932 and January 10, 1942 which provide for the following:

1. The City retains the Museum as its agency in regard to all matters connected with the acquisition and exhibition of works of art. The Museum has full ownership, responsibility, control and discretion over all its art collections and museum activities in general.

2. The Museum accepts the designation from the City to provide these art museum services.

3. The City compensates the Museum annually for such art museum services.

4. The Museum is open to the public within reasonable hours not less than four days per week.

During the fiscal year ended September 30, 2004, the City appropriated $1,358,777 for Museum operations and $30,789 for capital improvements. The City also provided telephone, certain types of insurance, steam heat, air conditioning, and other services to the Museum, which were valued at $700,261.

(b) Basis of Accounting

The accompanying financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting, and accordingly reflect all significant receivables, payables and other liabilities.

(c) Financial Statement Presentation

Financial statement presentation follows the requirements of the Financial Accounting Standards Board in its Statement of Financial Accounting Standards ("SFAS") No. 117, Financial Statements of Not-for-Profit Organizations. Under SFAS No. 117, the Museum is required to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted, temporarily restricted, and permanently restricted.
(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued

(d) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(e) Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Museum considers all highly liquid investments with an initial maturity of three months or less, and which are not held as part of an investment portfolio, to be cash equivalents.

(f) Concentrations of Credit Risk

Financial instruments which potentially subject the Museum to concentrations of credit risk consist principally of cash and cash equivalents, investments in debt securities, contributions receivable, and general accounts receivable.

The Museum places its temporary cash and money market accounts with creditworthy, high-quality financial institutions. A significant portion of the funds are not insured by the FDIC or similar entity. Credit risk associated with investments in debt securities is limited because the investments are comprised primarily of U.S. government and agency securities. Credit risk with respect to contributions receivable is considered by management to be limited because substantially all contributions are receivable from foundations or individuals with a demonstrated history of payment. Credit risk related to general accounts receivable is considered by management to be minimal because the customer base is comprised primarily of government institutions or other large organizations.

(g) Contributions

The Museum accounts for contributions in accordance with the requirements of the Financial Accounting Standards Board in SFAS No. 116, Accounting for Contributions Received and Contributions Made. In accordance with SFAS No. 116, contributions received are recorded as unrestricted, temporarily restricted, or permanently restricted support, depending on the existence or nature of any donor restrictions. When a restriction expires (that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished), temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.
(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued

(h) Allowance for Uncollectible Pledges

The Museum uses the allowance method to record uncollectible pledges. The allowance is based on prior years' experience and management's analysis of specific pledges made. There was no allowance at September 30, 2004.

(i) Investments

Investments in marketable securities with readily determinable fair values and all investments in debt securities are stated at their fair values in the Statement of Financial Position. Unrealized gains and losses are included in the change in net assets in the Statement of Activities.

(j) Merchandise Held for Resale

Merchandise held for resale consists of gift shop items and beverages, and is stated at the lower of cost or market. Cost is determined using the first-in, first-out method.

(k) Land, Buildings and Equipment

Land is stated at cost and is not depreciated. Buildings, improvements and equipment, are stated at cost and are depreciated using the straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets ranging from three to fifty years.

(l) Collections

The Museum’s collections, which were acquired through purchases and contributions, are not recognized as assets on the Statement of Financial Position. Purchases of collection items are recorded as decreases in unrestricted net assets in the year in which the items are acquired. Contributed collection items are not reflected on the financial statements. Proceeds from deaccessions or insurance recoveries are reflected as increases in the appropriate net asset classes. Museum policies require that such proceeds be used only to acquire additional art objects.

(m) Recognition of Income

Income from advance payment of fees for traveling exhibitions, and admissions is deferred until the occurrence of the related activity.
Notes to Financial Statements

(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued

(n) Contributed Property, Equipment, and Supplies

Contributed property and equipment is recorded at fair value at the date of donation. If donors stipulate how long the assets must be used, the contributions are recorded as restricted support. In the absence of such stipulations, contributions of property and equipment are recorded as unrestricted support. Contributed supplies are recorded at fair value at the date of donation, and are recorded as unrestricted support.

(o) Donated Goods and Services

Contributed services are recognized as contributions in accordance with SFAS No. 116 if the services (a) create or enhance nonfinancial assets or (b) require specialized skills, are performed by people with those skills, and would otherwise be purchased by the Museum. In the year ended September 30, 2004, the Museum recorded donated legal services of $52,000, donated advertising services of $16,675, and donated benefit consulting and administrative services of $40,678. In addition, the Museum received donated goods with a fair market value of $4,500.

Many other individuals volunteer their time and perform a variety of tasks that assist the Museum in its programs and general operations throughout the year, but these were not recognized as contributions in the financial statements because the recognition criteria under SFAS No. 116 were not met.

(p) Allocation of Expenses

The costs of providing the various service programs, activities, and related supporting services have been summarized on a functional basis in the Statement of Activities. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among the appropriate programs and supporting services benefited.

(q) Advertising

The Museum uses advertising to promote its programs among the constituencies it serves. Production costs of advertising are expensed as incurred. During 2004, advertising costs totaled $492,772.

(r) Income Taxes

The Museum is exempt from federal and state income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, and qualifies for the charitable contribution deduction. However, income from activities not directly related to the Museum’s tax-exempt purpose is subject to taxation as unrelated business income. The Museum incurred no unrelated business income tax during fiscal year 2004.
(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued

(s) Limited Liability Corporations

The Museum has formed Denver Art Museum Holdings, LLC; H Street Properties LLC; and 1240-1250 Bannock LLC to hold certain non-cash assets for the benefit of the Museum. The Museum is the sole member of each; accordingly, all of the accounts and activity of the LLC’s are included in the financial statements of the Museum.

(2) Investments

Investments were comprised of the following at September 30, 2004:

- Mutual fund (treasury obligations) $ 3,866,750
- Treasury and commercial notes 1,094,105
- Investments held by the Denver Art Museum Foundation 2,070,554
- Investments in real estate 171,992
- Total investments $ 7,203,401

Investment income is summarized below:

- Interest and dividend income $ 159,421
- Net realized and unrealized gains 123,088
- Net investment return $ 282,509

(3) Grants and Contributions Receivable

All of the Museum’s federal grants meet the definition of a contribution and are recorded as revenue when the grant award is received. All federal grants are expected to be collected in less than one year.

General contributions receivable at September 30, 2004, are comprised of various pledges that are expected to be received as follows:

- Receivable in less than one year $ 1,073,879
- Receivable in one to five years 170,000
- Total contributions receivable 1,243,879
- Less discount to net present value (9,968)
- Net contributions receivable $ 1,233,911

Amounts due in more than one year have been discounted to their net present values using an average discount rate of 2.82%.
(4) Frederic C. Hamilton Building Project

In November, 1999, the voters in the City and County of Denver (the City) approved a $62,500,000 bond initiative to fund a new wing of the Museum, the Frederic C. Hamilton Building. The Frederic C. Hamilton Building will be a 146,000 square foot building housing exhibition space, art object storage, and areas for other museum programs, which will complement the exhibitions and programs in the existing building. In 2002, the Museum embarked on a capital campaign to raise $28,000,000 to fund certain construction elements and amenities of the Frederic C. Hamilton Building Project that were not a part of the City’s bond construction budget. Contributions, including pledges made by foundations, corporations, and individuals, are recorded as temporarily restricted net assets until expenditures are incurred on the project. Expenditures associated with the building are expensed as incurred because the City retains the title to the building; expenditures associated with personal property purchased for the new wing will be capitalized. At September 30, 2004, the Museum has raised $24,220,265 in unconditional pledges and contributions toward the capital campaign goal.

The following is a summary of unconditional capital campaign contributions receivable at September 30, 2004:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Contributions Receivable</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Receivable in less than one year</td>
<td>$3,651,303</td>
</tr>
<tr>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total contributions receivable</td>
<td>$11,643,623</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Less discount to net present value</td>
<td>$(831,157)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Net contributions receivable</td>
<td>$10,812,466</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Amounts due in more than one year have been discounted to their net present values using a weighted average discount rate of 2.82%.

In addition to unconditional capital campaign contributions, the Museum received a $1,000,000 pledge during 2003 conditional upon raising a total of $27,000,000 in capital campaign funds by March 1, 2005. At September 30, 2004, the pledge has not been recognized in the accompanying financial statements because the condition has not been met.

(5) Trust Arrangements and Bequests

The Museum is the beneficiary of a perpetual trust administered by a bank. A perpetual trust provides for the distribution of the net income of the trust to the Museum; however, the Museum will never receive the assets of the trust. At September 30, 2004, the fair value of assets held in perpetual trust for the benefit of the Museum was $259,395, and is included in the statement of financial position as Beneficial interest in perpetual trust. Total income from the trust for 2004 was $7,194, which was available to the Museum for its educational lecture programs.
(5) Trust Arrangements and Bequests, Continued

The Museum is a named beneficiary in another perpetual trust. However, the distribution percentage is not fixed, but is determined by a three-member board, one member of which is the Director of the Museum. Because future distributions are not determinable, no amount has been included in the statement of financial position at September 30, 2004. The fair market value of trust assets was $1,241,954 at September 30, 2004. Income from the trust is available to the Museum for acquisition of art objects. No distributions were received from the trust during the fiscal year ended September 30, 2004.

The Museum has received charitable gift annuities which are held for investment by the Denver Art Museum Foundation (note 2). A liability equal to the estimated future payments to beneficiaries, $298,752, is included in accounts payable and accrued liabilities in the accompanying statement of financial position.

The Museum has been informed that it has been named a beneficiary under certain wills. No amounts have been included in the financial statements relating to potential distributions under these wills because they may be revoked or amended during the makers’ lifetimes, and because the amounts of such distributions are not determinable.

(6) Land, Buildings and Equipment

Land, buildings and equipment are stated at cost and consisted of the following at September 30, 2004:

(7) Note Payable

During 2002, Denver Art Museum Holdings, LLC (the LLC) entered into an agreement to purchase land near the site of the Frederic C. Hamilton Building Project for a total of $1,650,000. The LLC paid $700,000 and financed $950,000 in connection with the purchase. The note, which is non-interest bearing, is secured by real property at 1240 and 1250 Bannock Street, Denver, Colorado. As part of the agreement, the seller will lease back the property through August 6, 2005, and will pay $10 per year plus all costs and expenses related to the property. During 2003, the LLC made a $250,000 principal payment on the note. The balance of $700,000 is payable in 2005.
In January, 2003, the Museum borrowed $8,000,000 through the Colorado Educational and Cultural Facilities Authority (CECFA), which issued Variable Rate Demand Revenue Bonds (The Denver Art Museum Project) Series 2003 (the Bonds) in an aggregate principal amount of $8,000,000 under a trust indenture dated January 30, 2003 between CECFA and Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., as trustee (the Trustee). The bond proceeds were used to provide interim financing for the Frederic C. Hamilton Building Project.

The Museum is required to make annual mandatory redemption payments beginning January 2006 through January 2013 in varying amounts ranging from approximately $900,000 to $1,100,000. The Museum may redeem the bonds prior to maturity with no penalty. The debt matures according to the following redemption schedule:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>

</tbody>
</table>

Interest, computed at a variable rate (ranging from .89% to 1.71% during year ended September 30, 2004), is billed and paid quarterly by the Museum to the Trustee. Total interest expense in 2004 was $88,008. Cash received from the Museum’s $28,000,000 capital campaign will be used to pay the debt.

In connection with the bond offering, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. issued an $8,000,000 irrevocable letter of credit to secure the Museum’s obligations under the bond offering. Pledges receivable and cash received for the Frederic C. Hamilton Building Project, and the unrestricted portion of the annual Denver Art Museum Foundation distribution, serve as collateral for the loan. In addition, an unrecored deed of trust to the property owned by the Museum and located at 414 Tremont Street is held in escrow by Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. This deed of trust will only be recorded in the event of an uncured default by the Museum.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Museum has agreed to abide by certain loan covenants which stipulate that it may not sign contracts or expend funds in excess of pledges received through the Museum’s capital campaign. A member of the Museum’s board of trustees is an officer of Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., which received fees totaling $104,910 during 2004.
(9) Restrictions on Net Assets

Temporarily Restricted

(10) Scientific and Cultural Facilities District

In November, 1988, the voters of the Denver metropolitan area approved the formation of a special tax district to support the scientific and cultural institutions within the district. Beginning in 1989, revenues for the district were generated through a sales tax and distributed to various institutions, including the Museum, in accordance with the provisions of the act. In 2004, the voters of the Denver metropolitan area extended the expiration date of the special tax district. The special tax district is currently scheduled to expire on June 30, 2018, unless reauthorized by the voters.

(11) Denver Art Museum Foundation

The Denver Art Museum Foundation (the Foundation) is a separate, tax-exempt Colorado nonprofit corporation formed to hold, manage, invest, and administer substantially all the Museum’s endowment funds exclusively for the benefit of the Denver Art Museum. The Foundation is governed by its board of directors, and the Foundation has legal title to and controls all funds within the Foundation, subject to any restrictions imposed by donors, until such funds are distributed to the Museum by resolution of the Foundation’s board. The Foundation’s bylaws preclude the use of such funds as security for any obligation. The Foundation’s bylaws also provide for an annual distribution to the Museum, not to exceed net income earned from such funds (excluding realized and unrealized capital gains), up to four percent of the Foundation’s average corpus for such year and the two prior years.

The Museum follows the provisions of statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 136, Transfers of Assets to a Not-for-Profit Organization or Charitable Trust That Raises or Holds Contributions for Others. This statement requires a beneficiary organization, such as the Museum, to report in its financial statements assets held for its benefit by an endowment organization, such as the Foundation, and to adjust its interest in such assets for the changes in net assets held by the endowment organization, notwithstanding that the beneficiary organization has no legal claim to such assets until the endowment organization makes the distributions described above to the beneficiary organization.

The change in net assets of the Foundation for the year ended September 30, 2004 is comprised of the following activity:

<thead>
<tr>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Beginning net assets, September 30, 2003</td>
<td>$82,714,250</td>

<td>2,849,597</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ending net assets, September 30, 2004</td>
<td>$85,563,847</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

During fiscal year 2004, the Foundation’s Board of Directors approved $1,713,940 for distribution to the Museum. At September 30, 2004 the Museum's financial statements reflect the $1,713,940 distribution receivable from the Foundation. The Museum distributed $210,934 to the Foundation during the year ended September 30, 2004, to establish an endowment for the Institute of American Western Art.

The Foundation is engaged in an endowment campaign to raise funds to endow the operating costs of the Frederic C. Hamilton Building (note 4).

(12) Collections

The Museum’s collections are comprised of art objects that are held for exhibition, educational, and research purposes. The objects are cataloged and stored in such a manner so as to meet standards of professional care for museum art objects, and regular procedures verifying their existence and condition are performed. The collections are subject to both acquisition and deaccession policies including a policy that requires proceeds from their sales to be used to purchase other art objects. Proceeds from collection objects deaccessioned in fiscal year 2004 totaled $276,834.
(13) Retirement Plans

The Museum sponsors a tax-deferred annuity plan qualified under Section 403(b) of the Internal Revenue Code. The plan covers substantially all full-time employees of the Museum. Employees may contribute a portion of their gross salaries to the 403(b) plan up to the maximum amount established by the IRS. After one year of service, the Museum contributes 6% of each employee’s salary to the 403(b) plan. Employer contributions are vested immediately. During fiscal year 2004, the Museum contributed $308,525 to the plan. Certain long-time employees of the Museum are covered by the City’s defined benefit retirement plan. The Museum reimburses the City for its share of plan funding requirements. During fiscal year 2004, the Museum paid $93,540 to the City.

(14) Subsequent Event

On November 12, 2004, the Museum borrowed $16,000,000 through the Colorado Educational and Cultural Facilities Authority (CECFA), which issued Variable Rate Demand Revenue Bonds (The Denver Art Museum Project) Series 2004 (the Bonds) in an aggregate principal amount of $16,000,000 under a trust indenture dated November 1, 2004 between CECFA and Wells Fargo Bank, N.A., as trustee (the Trustee). The bond proceeds are to be used to provide interim financing for the Frederic C. Hamilton Building Project, refund the $8,000,000 outstanding Variable Rate Demand Revenue Bonds Series 2003, and pay certain costs of issuing the Series 2004 Bonds. In connection with the bond offering, Wells Fargo Bank, N.A. issued a $16,000,000 irrevocable letter of credit to secure the Museum’s obligations under the bond offering.

September 30, 2004 and 2003

(With Independent Auditor’s Report Thereon)
Independent Auditor’s Report

Board of Directors
The Denver Art Museum Foundation:

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of the Denver Art Museum Foundation as of September 30, 2004 and 2003, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Foundation's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with U.S. generally accepted auditing standards. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Denver Art Museum Foundation as of September 30, 2004 and 2003, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

(a) General

The Denver Art Museum Foundation (the Foundation) is a separate, tax-exempt Colorado non-profit corporation formed on January 27, 1988, to hold, invest, and administer substantially all the Denver Art Museum’s (the Museum) endowment funds exclusively for the Museum. The Foundation is governed by its board of directors, and the Foundation owns and controls all funds within the Foundation, subject to any restrictions imposed by donors, until such funds are distributed to the Museum by resolution of the Foundation’s board. The Foundation’s bylaws also provide for an annual distribution to the Museum, not to exceed net income earned from such funds (excluding unrealized capital gains), up to four percent of the Foundation’s average market value for such year and the two prior years.

(b) Basis of Accounting

The accompanying financial statements of the Foundation have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting, and accordingly reflect all significant receivables, payables, and other liabilities.

(c) Financial Statement Presentation

Financial statement presentation follows the requirements of the Financial Accounting Standards Board in its Statement of Financial Accounting Standards (“SFAS”) No. 117, Financial Statements of Not-for-Profit Organizations. Under SFAS No. 117, the Foundation is required to report information regarding its financial position and activities according to three classes of net assets: unrestricted, temporarily restricted, and permanently restricted.

(d) Contributions

The Foundation accounts for contributions in accordance with the requirements of the Financial Accounting Standards Board in SFAS No. 116, Accounting for Contributions Received and Contributions Made. In accordance with SFAS No. 116, contributions received are recorded as unrestricted, temporarily restricted, or permanently restricted support, depending on the existence or nature of any donor restrictions.

Support that is restricted by donors is reported as an increase in temporarily or permanently restricted net assets, depending on the nature of the restriction. When a restriction expires (that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished), temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statement of activities as net assets released from restrictions.
(1) Summary of Significant Accounting Policies, Continued

(e) Contributions Receivable

Unconditional pledges are recognized as revenues in the period received, and as assets, decreases of liabilities, or expenses, depending on the form of the benefits received. Pledges are recorded at net realizable value if expected to be collected in one year and at fair value if expected to be collected in more than one year. Pledges receivable are discounted at the risk-free rate of return in effect at the time the pledge is made. Conditional pledges are recognized when the conditions on which they depend are substantially met.

(f) Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Foundation considers all unrestricted highly liquid investments with an initial maturity of three months or less, and which are not held by investment managers as part of an investment portfolio, to be cash equivalents.

(g) Investments

Investments in marketable securities with readily determinable fair values and all investments in debt securities are stated at their fair values in the statement of financial position. Unrealized gains and losses are included in the change in net assets in the statement of activities.

(h) Concentrations of Credit Risk

The Foundation has significant investments in stocks, bonds, limited partnerships, and money market accounts, and is therefore subject to concentrations of credit risk. The Foundation places its cash and cash equivalents with creditworthy, high-quality, financial institutions. At times, a significant portion of the funds are not insured by the FDIC or related entity. Investments are made directly by the Board of Directors and by investment managers engaged by the Board, and are monitored by the Board on an ongoing basis. Though the market values of investments are subject to fluctuation on a year-to-year basis, the Board believes that the investment policy is prudent for the long-term welfare of the Foundation and the Museum. There is significant concentration of credit risk associated with contributions receivable as approximately 86% of the Foundation’s contributions receivable balance consist of pledges from four donors.

(i) Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

(j) Donated Services

No amounts have been reflected in the financial statements for donated services. The Foundation pays for most services requiring specific expertise. However, certain individuals volunteer their time and perform a variety of tasks that assist the Foundation with specific assistance programs and fund-raising activities.

(k) Income Tax Status

The Foundation is exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code, and qualifies for the charitable contribution deduction. However, income from activities not directly related to the Foundation's tax-exempt purpose is subject to taxation as unrelated business income. During fiscal year 2003 the Foundation received federal and state income tax refunds totaling $6,762, relating to taxes paid in prior years on certain investment activities. No income taxes were paid in fiscal year 2004.

(2) Contributions and Contributions Receivable

Contributions receivable as of September 30 are as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th></th>
<th>2004</th>
<th>2003</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Due within one year</td>

<td>$38,874,003</td>
<td>40,950,188</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Contributions receivable are discounted at the risk-free rate of return effective at the time the promise to contribute was made, ranging from 1.6% to 3.7%. Management has determined that all contributions receivable are fully collectible. Contributions revenue includes amortization of discount totaling $782,756 and $1,272,672 during the years ended September 30, 2004 and 2003, respectively.

(3) Long-Term Investments

Investments are stated at fair value and are comprised of the following at September 30, 2004:

</tbody>
</table>

Investments are stated at fair value and are comprised of the following at September 30, 2003:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Corporate bonds and bond mutual funds</th>
<th>Cost</th>
<th>Fair Value</th>
<th>Unrealized Appreciation (Depreciation)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>

</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>$37,300,307</td>
<td>$44,063,527</td>
<td>$6,763,220</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Foundation's investments in limited partnerships and limited liability investment companies consist of managed investment funds that bear certain time restrictions as to conversion to cash. Market values are determined by the management of the limited partnerships and investment companies and are reported to the Foundation. The September 30, 2004 and 2003 unaudited market values of the Foundation's investments in the entities have been valued by their respective managements at $36,712,442 and $39,025,071, respectively. The entities are audited by independent public accountants each year, but are not necessarily as of the Foundation's September 30 fiscal year-end.

(4) Investment in Artwork

During the year ended September 30, 2002, a single art object was accepted by the Foundation in partial fulfillment of a pledge. The donation was recorded at its estimated fair market value of $1,711,000. The object is currently on loan to the Denver Art Museum. If and when the artwork is sold, the proceeds will be invested in the endowment fund.
(5) Assets Held in Trust for Denver Art Museum

The Foundation holds and invests certain funds on behalf of the Museum. These funds consisted of operating reserves of $1,749,790 and $1,840,104, at September 30, 2004 and 2003, respectively. In addition, the Foundation held $320,764 and $286,017 at September 30, 2004 and 2003, respectively, designated by the Museum to meet their obligations under charitable gift annuities. Investment income and expenses allocated to these funds increase or decrease the liability to the Museum and do not appear on the statement of activities.

(6) Restrictions on Net Assets

All of the net assets of the Foundation are considered to be part of the endowment fund, and distributions to the Museum are made in accordance with the formula described in note 7. For financial statement purposes, the Foundation classifies net assets in accordance with the requirements of the Financial Accounting Standards Board. Permanently restricted net assets represent amounts that cannot be expended, except to the extent of the annual distribution percentage. Temporarily restricted net assets represent the cumulative unexpended earnings on certain endowment contributions, where the contributor directed that the earnings be used for specific purposes and did not limit the amount of the annual distribution. Unrestricted net assets represent the cumulative unexpended earnings on certain endowment contributions, where the contributor did not direct the use of the earnings and did not limit the amount of the annual distribution.

(7) Distributions to Museum

The Foundation adheres to a uniform distribution policy to appropriate for distribution to the Museum so much of the cumulative net appreciation as is prudent considering the Museum's long- and short-term financial needs, and the Foundation's present and anticipated financial requirements, expected total return on its investments, price-level trends, and general economic conditions. Under the Foundation's distribution policy, 4% of the average of the cost of the total Foundation net assets, not including pledges receivable, at the end of the current and previous two years is appropriated for distribution to the Museum. The distribution cannot exceed the average of the income for the current year and two previous years, not including unrealized gains or pledges. The calculated distribution for fiscal year 2004 is $1,713,940 and will be paid subsequent to September 30, 2004. The distribution in fiscal year 2003 was $1,440,319.

(8) Deferred Compensation Plan

Effective January 1, 1996, the Foundation entered into an executive deferred compensation plan with an executive of the Denver Art Museum. The plan is funded with assets held and invested by the Foundation, and no additional contributions are required by the agreement. If the executive voluntarily terminates employment prior to 2006, the assets held for the plan revert to the Foundation. Assets held by the Foundation for the plan amounted to $487,845 and $453,285 at September 30, 2004 and 2003, respectively.
(9) Transfer from Museum

During the year ended September 30, 2004, the Museum’s board of directors approved a transfer of the proceeds of a fundraising event held by the Museum totaling $210,934, to fund the Institute of Western American Art Endowment. During the year ended September 30, 2003, the Museum’s board of directors approved a transfer of $2,000,000 to the Foundation’s general endowment. The funds are included in the permanently restricted net assets of the Foundation at September 30, 2004 and 2003.
